Recently, ground was broken on Shoemaker Lane in Agawam for a 7500 square-foot building which Fusion Labs, Inc., will occupy this coming September. Previously the firm was located in Chicopee and its rapidly-expanding business of electron beam welding necessitated an expansion and relocation of its plant.

The specialized manufacturing-engineering firm employs 15 people.

Working in cooperation with the Agawam Industrial Development Commission the new addition to the town's growing industrial force was located in Agawam.

On The Lawn

with LARRY LAWRENCE

People often ask me why the makers of lawn fertilizers don't color their products so that when you feed the lawn you can see where you've been. It's a good idea, but easier said than done.

When you spread fertilizer the idea is to get it down in contact with the soil where it can go to work. And the better it does this the less likely you are to see it, no matter what color it is.

One solution is to attach a pair of markers to your spreader. These are cups that fit alongside each wheel and can be filled with ordinary flour. Either cup can be tripped from the handle as you walk along, leaving little white guide marks to show your progress.

I have seen these on sale at 4.95 a pair and assume that any Scotts dealer could get them for you. Or you could write directly to Scotts the lawn people in Marysville, Ohio. Another solution is to feed when the grass is wet with rain or dew or after sprinkling. Then the spreader wheels will leave a track that is easy to follow.

Independence Day 1966

The Fourth of July falls on Monday this year. That means another long weekend of fun and recreation. But this year to a greater degree than in many years, we should pause to reflect on the true meaning of the Fourth of July. There are thousands of families across the land who face a sober Fourth. Their sons and husbands are in Viet Nam because as a nation, we are dedicated to the document which the Fourth of July commemorates.

That document is our Declaration of Independence from Great Britain, adopted by the Continental Congress on July 4, 1776. It signifies the birth of a nation and a degree of individual freedom that exists nowhere else on earth. So long as the Declaration of Independence endures in the minds and hearts of American citizens, freedom will endure. So, with due humility and reverence, enjoy yourself on this Fourth of July, in the year 1966.

Stockholders Should Wake Up!

The people are the stockholders in the greatest corporation in the world, the U. S. government. Just as in a business corporation, they elect the officers and directors of the "company." If the officers of our government corporation spend its money faster than income and good business practice warrant, it is up to the stockholders (voters) to express their views at annual meetings (elections).

If they don't do this, and if they accept constantly greater dividends (gifts) than the corporation's income can stand, they are headed for trouble. In the case of government, that means assessments (increased taxes) for every stockholder (citizen)—or economy to bring the operating costs of the corporation within its income.

The stockholders in the U. S. government corporation have a choice—they can instruct their hired officers and directors to cut expenses to income, or they can pay higher taxes.

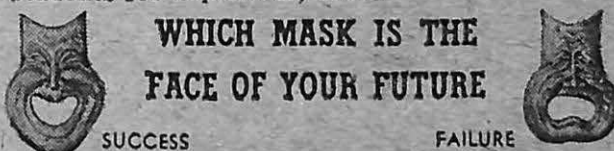

The result of rising public debt, waste and demands from voters for handouts is inflation. The stockholder voters are getting a taste of inflation. But, they have seen nothing yet, unless they curb their own demands and those of their elected officers and directors. They still have free elections and the right to vote and express their wishes.

Independence Day 1966

One hundred and ninety years ago, the Liberty bell rang out to proclaim the Declaration of Independence to the American colonists, marking an entirely new concept in the development of human progress.

The immortal words of Thomas Jefferson asserted that "all men are created equal" and "that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights...life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

Just what does Independence Day mean to us today? Is it just another day off...a long weekend...a parade or fireworks display?

The celebrating of Independence Day can be more deadly than the war it commemorates. For example, from 1900 to 1930 more Americans were killed (4,290) and more maimed (96,000) by fireworks than were killed in the eight-year Revolutionary War in which we lost 4,044 killed and 6,188 seriously wounded.

Public display accidents now account for one-third of all major injuries from fireworks. Accidents on the highways continue to take their ever-increasing deathly toll, but the fatality rate in relation to the highway mileage is decreasing.

Let us take a minute to pause and reflect on the basic precepts which are as true today as they were that memorable day in Philadelphia. Make this a safe and sane holiday, so we may live to enjoy the guarantees of freedom, and retain them in our minds, hearts and deeds.

Vacation Time Is Here

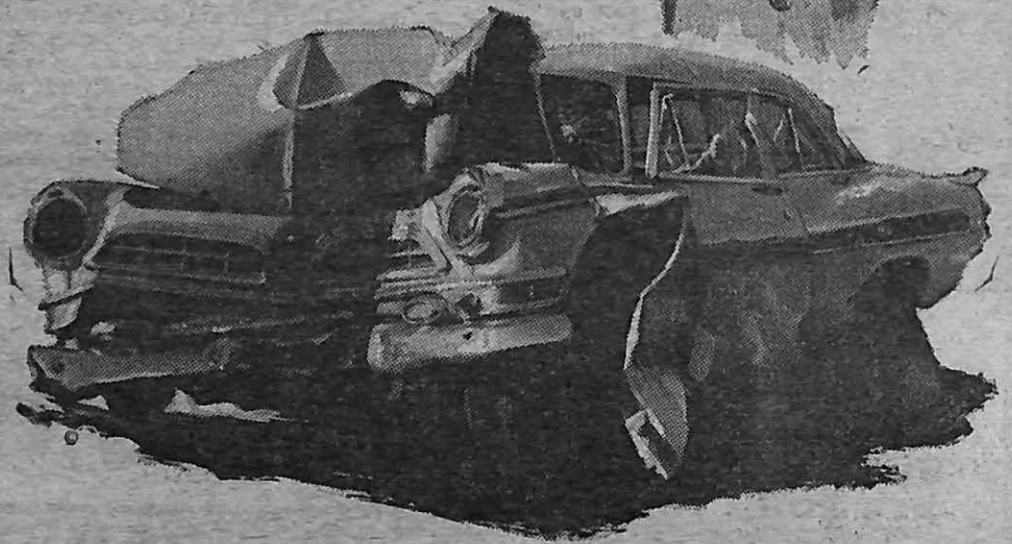

and with it motor vehicle travel takes on a special significance as many families spend a large part of their vacation time traveling on our highways. For most vacationers, it becomes a most enjoyable time of the year. For thousands of others, it becomes a time of sorrow and regret because of accidents in which people are injured and killed.

The 4th of July initiates the summer vacation season. This weekend usually sees maximum traffic, and the more cars on the road, the greater the hazard. The only way to reduce this hazard is by extra alertness and defensive driving. The driver who keeps his eyes on the traffic situations ahead of him and allows himself a margin of time and space is practicing defensive driving. He defends himself and his family from unnecessary accidents by observing all rules of the road — never assumes or forces the right-of-way — obeys all traffic signs and lights, and drives at a speed consistent with other traffic, weather, and road conditions. Under normal conditions, a good rule of thumb to prevent a rear-end collision is to keep at least one car length behind the vehicle ahead of you for each ten miles per hour you are travelling.

DEATH TAKES NO HOLIDAY

The grim spectre is ALWAYS on the job . . . never more so than when most folks are off theirs! Holidays, week-ends and vacation time are precisely when the tragic toll of traffic accidents mounts highest. More people on the road in more of a hurry multiply driving hazards. That's the time to drive with more caution, more patience, more courtesy.

You take your life in your hands when you take the wheel of your car. Take a little longer to get where you're going . . . and live a lot longer!

SPORTSMEN'S CORNER

By Bill Chiba

If a small percentage of farmers would take advantage of the Croplands Adjustment Program, some 40 million acres could be opened to hunting within the next few years.

Under the Food and Agriculture Act of 1965, farmers are paid to convert cropland not presently needed for production to recreation and conservation uses on a long-term basis.

The base pay is estimated on what the profits would be if crops were planted; for example, $8 to $15 per acre of wheat, $25 to $40 per acre of corn, $20 to 30 per acre of cotton, etc.

In addition, participating farmers become eligible for additional federal and sometimes local funds for wildlife habitat improvement. Farmers who allow free access receive additional funds for opening up their land without charge for hunting, fishing, trapping and hiking.

CAP funds are also available for local governments to purchase surplus cropland for conversion to recreation and conservation uses. For complete information, contact your county office of the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service.

One Million Acres

Pennsylvania's Game Commission owns more hunting land than there is acreage in the entire state of Rhode Island. The commission owns one million acres.

Governor Scranton said recently: "In an effort without parallel, a hunting public through a state agency has bought and paid for a million acres of prime hunting land with hunting license money alone."

"All this land (paid for exclusively by hunters) is dedicated to hunting by the public," reports Gen. Nicholas Biddle, who has participated in this program as a Game Commission member since 1930.

Hunters use the land for two or three months a year, but picnickers, hikers and nature enthusiasts use it free all year.

It took 45 years and $5.6 million before the millionth acre was finally acquired in 1965.

The Game Commission points with pride to the fact that no public tax money was used. All this money came from Sportsmen. Every time they purchased hunting licenses, portions of the fees were allocated to the game land program.

This is slightly one sided since the hikers, picnickers, and other nature lovers failed to pay a cent towards the purchases of land, but do just the areas more days of the year than the sportsmen. At least the Legislature of Massachusetts is donating 25 cents on the dollar from the general fund towards assisting the sportsmen in purchasing land for recreational use. The bill filed was to be a matching amount from the General Fund of the State. This is what it should be. Every citizen should bear the burden of providing a place for boating, fishing, hunting, picnicking, and etc., not just one segment of the populace.

The effects of this land program and other commission activities have stimulated a vast interest in hunting throughout the state of Penn. In 1965, more than 900,000 licenses were sought by hunters, bringing almost $6 million to the commission.

Atlantic Salmon For Mass.

Thanks to the generosity of the Quebec Department of Tourism, Fish and Game, the Bay State now has 56,488 sea-run Atlantic salmon—but they're not fishable yet! They are in the Sutton state hatchery to add to their approximately 1 1/4 inch average length.

The Atlantics will be stocked in the Quabbin this fall as five inch fish, and will be used as a basis of comparison with growth rates and success in Quabbin of the landlocked salmon already stocked there. The best of the two will be the salmon that Mass. anglers fish for in the future.

MUSIC FAIR
Eastern States Exposition Park, West Springfield, Mass.

Walter Slezak and Bernice Massi
To Star In "Oliver"

One of the biggest musical hits of recent years, "Oliver," comes to the Music Fair for a week beginning July 4. Written by one of England's top composers, Lionel Bart, "Oliver" was a sensational triumph in London before producer David Merrick brought it to America. In an unprecedented move, Merrick toured the production throughout the country for five months before finally opening on Broadway in January, 1963, where the show became an immediate hit.

Long before it opened, one of its song hits was heading the popularity charts across the nation. The song, "As Long as He Needs Me," has since become a modern classic.

"Oliver" is based on Charles Dickens' famous novel, "Oliver Twist," and is set, among other places, in London's terrible workhouses, taverns, and finally London Bridge.

Walter Slezak will play Fagin, a likeable rogue who rescues young Oliver from the workhouse, only to set him about the dubious profession of being a pickpocket, along with some dozen other urchins in Fagin's employ.

But downbeat as that may sound, "Oliver" is a joyous and bawdy musical which has—at least for Oliver—a happy conclusion. The musical ran for 774 performances on Broadway, and was a huge success in a subsequent road tour.

Mr. Slezak, noted for his dramatic and comedy roles, made his musical stage debut some years ago in "Fanny." Miss Massi first came to public attention in a featured role in Richard Rodgers' "No Strings," and later in "What Makes Sammy Run?" in which she was promoted to star billing after being greeted by critical cheers.

Girls' State Delegate Returns

Practical experience in understanding and operating the machinery of government was gained by a local girl when she attended Girls' State at Bridgewater, a youth citizenship training program sponsored annually by the American Legion Auxiliary, Mrs. Gladys Catchepaugh, Girls' State chairman of Wilson-Thompson Unit announced.

Representing the Agawam area at the statewide gathering was Miss Holly Gibson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Gibson of Springfield St., Agawam, and a student of Agawam High School. Miss Gibson was awarded the Norman Knight Award, a gold watch, in recognition of excellence in leadership, character and citizenship. Holly was elected to the Girls' State Governor's Council and has been invited to return to Girls' State as a counselor in 1967.

Some 15,000 high school girls in all states except Alaska, and in the Panama Canal Zone and District of Columbia, participated in similar programs, Mrs. Catchepaugh pointed out.

"The Girls' State program was first established by the Auxiliary in 1937 and patterned after the Boys' State activities conducted by the American Legion," Mrs. Catchepaugh said. Its purpose is to train leaders for America's future and to prepare our youth for their roles as intelligent and active citizens. Delegates to Girls' State are selected on the basis of leadership from ability demonstrated in high school activities and are drawn from the high school junior classes.

Unit Meeting

The next meeting will be held in September, the date to be announced later.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Questions and Answers

Q. I will be 65 in a few months, but I plan to continue working. Should I apply for medicare now or wait until I stop working?

A. You should apply now. Retirement is not a qualification for medicare. Nearly everyone 65 or older is eligible for medicare.

Q. I will be 65 in three months. I am working now, but will retire in the month I reach 65. Should I apply for medicare now or wait until I retire?

A. You should file now. Medicare is divided into two parts—hospital insurance and medical insurance. If you file now, or in any of the 3 months prior to the month you reach 65, both parts of medicare will start with the month of your 65th birthday. If you file for medicare in the month you are 65, or any of the following three months, your medical insurance will not begin immediately, although you will have hospital insurance protection from the month you become 65.

Q. I am 67 and my wife 65. I am still working full time and earning about $3,000 a year. Can I get social security benefits?

A. You may be able to get some social security benefits now, since the amount of money you can earn and still receive some benefits has been increased. So you should apply now. And don't forget medicare, which both you and your wife are eligible for, even if you're working full-time.

Q. I applied for social security benefits in 1963 when I was 65. I never received any checks because I continued to work and earned over $10,000 a year. Will I get credit for these additional earnings when I finally do retire?

A. Beginning with 1966, if you work after you apply for social security and your additional earnings will result in a higher benefit, your potential benefit will be automatically refigured after the end of each year. When you retire, your benefit amount will be higher because of your higher earnings because of your higher earnings.
